DISTRESSED AUSTIN SWELTERING

AUTEUIL, TO-DAY. FRED PERRY'S TRIUMPH OVER HENRI COCHET IN FIVE SETS YESTERDAY HAS ALMOST ASSURED BRITAIN OF WINNING THE DAVIS CUP FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE

Britain, leading by 2 matches to 0, has now to win only one of the three remaining matches to break the French sequence of six triumphs.

A crowd of 13,000, including the French President, M. Albert Lebrun, and Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang, witnessed the two British triumphs under swelteringly hot weather conditions.

Austin, though winning his match in straight sets, looked ill and most distressed at the finish. He showed signs of tiring in the second set when Merlin levelled at 4-all after being 4-0 down. Austin, however, took the next eight games for the set and match.

The scores were:

F. J. Perry (Britain) beat H. Cochet 8-10, 6-4, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1. H. W. Austin (Britain) beat A. Merlin 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

LANCASHIRE INDUSTRY NOT DECADENT

Government Not To Intervene.

DISCUSSIONS WITH INDIA AND JAPAN

London, To-day. The idea must not be allowed to get abroad, that the Lancashire textile industry is decadent, declared Major D. J. Colville, Secretary for Overseas Trade, during the adjournment debate in the House of Commons, yesterday.

Japanese competition was the major factor. The Government did not propose to intervene in the contemplated cotton discussions between cotton industrialists in Lancashire, Japan and India, but they would give the Lancashire representatives all the assistance they could.

The Government thought that the best solution would be to arrive at an amicable arrangement. Major Colville explained that the balance of trade between Britain and India was almost even, and might serve as a model for the negotiations which Britain is conducting with other countries. —Reuter.

MONDAY'S STORY

Monday's story will be "The Monk's Tale," by Allan Jeayes.

"I don't know if I slept, but I became aware of a most enchantling melody. It seemed to steal in on my outward sense of hearing and not, as is usual with my compositions, to sound within my own head. The notes rose and fell, then mounted again in exquisite harmony. Suddenly, a heavy crash of thunder deafened me and I became confused. Then, out of the chaos and through the flurry of the tempest one theme best into my brain, a golden - melody: that threaded its way through the storm into a soothing calm, and finished gloriously in a wonderful finale.

"I awoke and looked about. There was a feeling of stifling intensity in the air, a yellow gleam of lightning cut the gloom, It was caught and reflected in the some horrid pre-historic monster leering at me that I rose in a panic and tore out into the rain." He ! hesitated and was silent.

"Do go on," she pleaded. He took up the story.

"The cool, clean drops pattering down in a rhythmic tattoo helped me to regain my composure, and I began to muse on the symphony that I had heard, I hurried home and west straight to my study and wrote down the music. I played it lover and found that I had recalled! Strberfectly. I took it to Mario Roto, who was the most brilliant conductor that I knew. He went wild over it, and said it was a masterpiets. He had it orchestrated and his musicians tried to rehearse it, but it holds a curse."

"Ivon, don't be silly," she exclaimed impatiently, "the concerto is lovely music, and nothing that is so beautiful can be evil."

"Mario laughed at my warnings," he replied solemnly. "He refused to listen, but-" made a despondent motion with his hands.

"How?" she demanded.

"Poor Mario, he was so gay and debonair, guiding his orchestra with such quaint postures. His head, hands and body all united in his efforts to obtain the utmost expression from his men. It was almost the last bar of the finale that it happened. A surprised look slid like a shadow over his face, his baton slipped from his hand, his eyelids flickered, he gently crumpled up and was gone like the harmonies he evoked."

COCHET DEFEATED IN FIVE SETS.

Of the last 11 participations in the challenge rounds, Britain won the trophy five times, four o which were made in succession in 1903, 1904, 1905, and 1906. The last time Britain held the cup was

Possession of the trophy has been in the hands of France since 1927. France's ownership of the cup for the last six years was made up of five wins over the History of the Cup.

Two years ago the Britons played France, possessor of the famous trophy since 1927, and lost three matches to two. All the rest of the finals since 1925 have been between the United States and

From 1920 to 1927 the Americans held the trophy, emblem of international tennis supremacy, and since then France has beaten off all challenges. The British won the cup in 1912 by beating the Australia-New Zealand entry and also held it from 1903 to 1906, 9 four years.

Since the trophy was first put in 2 play in 1900 by Dwight F. Davis, later secretary of war and governor general of the Philippines, the United States has held it ten 6 years, France, six, Australia six. and Great Britain five years.
